ADMINISTRATION

To some students the administration is only a voice on the P.A., or a mysterious bevy comprised of the principal, assistant principal, and registrar. Yet in spite of their lack of insight, these students were constantly aided by the sisters in the office. Sister Salesia, the principal, who is always available to faculty and students alike, keeps her fingers on the pulse of the school. For individual dilemmas as changes of program, Sister Leonarda was ready to lend her services. And, although busy with the duty of keeping the office running, Sister Francetta cheerfully assisted students.

Last year through the initiative of the administration, a self-study of the school was begun. The study was climaxed this year by a visit made by a committee from the North Central Association.

The administration was more than an indispensable central management. Its helpful, sympathetic attitude and willingness to act created a rapport between the adults and students at Maria.

Guidance department invites speakers

In its second year, the guidance department has offered immeasurable service. Mrs. E. Urbik and Sister Jayne were available before, during, and after school to give assistance to all who knocked at their doors. This year group guidance was given to each class in the auditorium during the regular guidance period. Films were shown and guest speakers were presented. Subject matter for the upperclassmen dealt with college life, scholarships, careers, as well as personal well-being. Underclassmen's periods touched on such subjects as high school life, extracurricular activities, and personality development.

Representatives from various universities, colleges and career schools were available to answer questions and explain the functions of their institutions to interested seniors and juniors. Pamphlets, books and other types of literature can be found in the ever-growing guidance library located in Room 216. Through the help of this much needed department many girls were given insights to life after high school, continuing school or entering the business world.

English department broadens its scope

Humanities panelists are Connie DelVento, Kathryn Anleitner, Daina Baras, Jurate Kupcikevicius, Jurate Jasaitis, Diane Dunklau and Birute Gudas.

This year, the English department widened its scope in depth and content by offering a diversity of scholastic opportunities beyond the standard requirements. Field trips were organized to various lectures, dramas, concerts, and operas, which enriched the students' backgrounds and complemented their academic studies.

Team-teaching, under the supervision of Sister M. Henrietta, continued experimentally for six senior English classes. In the humanities course, interested seniors analytically explored the humanities: philosophy, drama, music, and art. Specialists of various departments lectured in these fields. The department also offers journalism, speech, and drama classes which are very popular.

This year a special group of sophomores was selected for the study of American Literature in place of the regular second year course. These sophomores will proceed to take English Literature in their junior year and complete their studies in senior year with a humanities course. By expanding its experimental and elective courses the department incorporated the classical with the empirical, and the practical with the cultural.

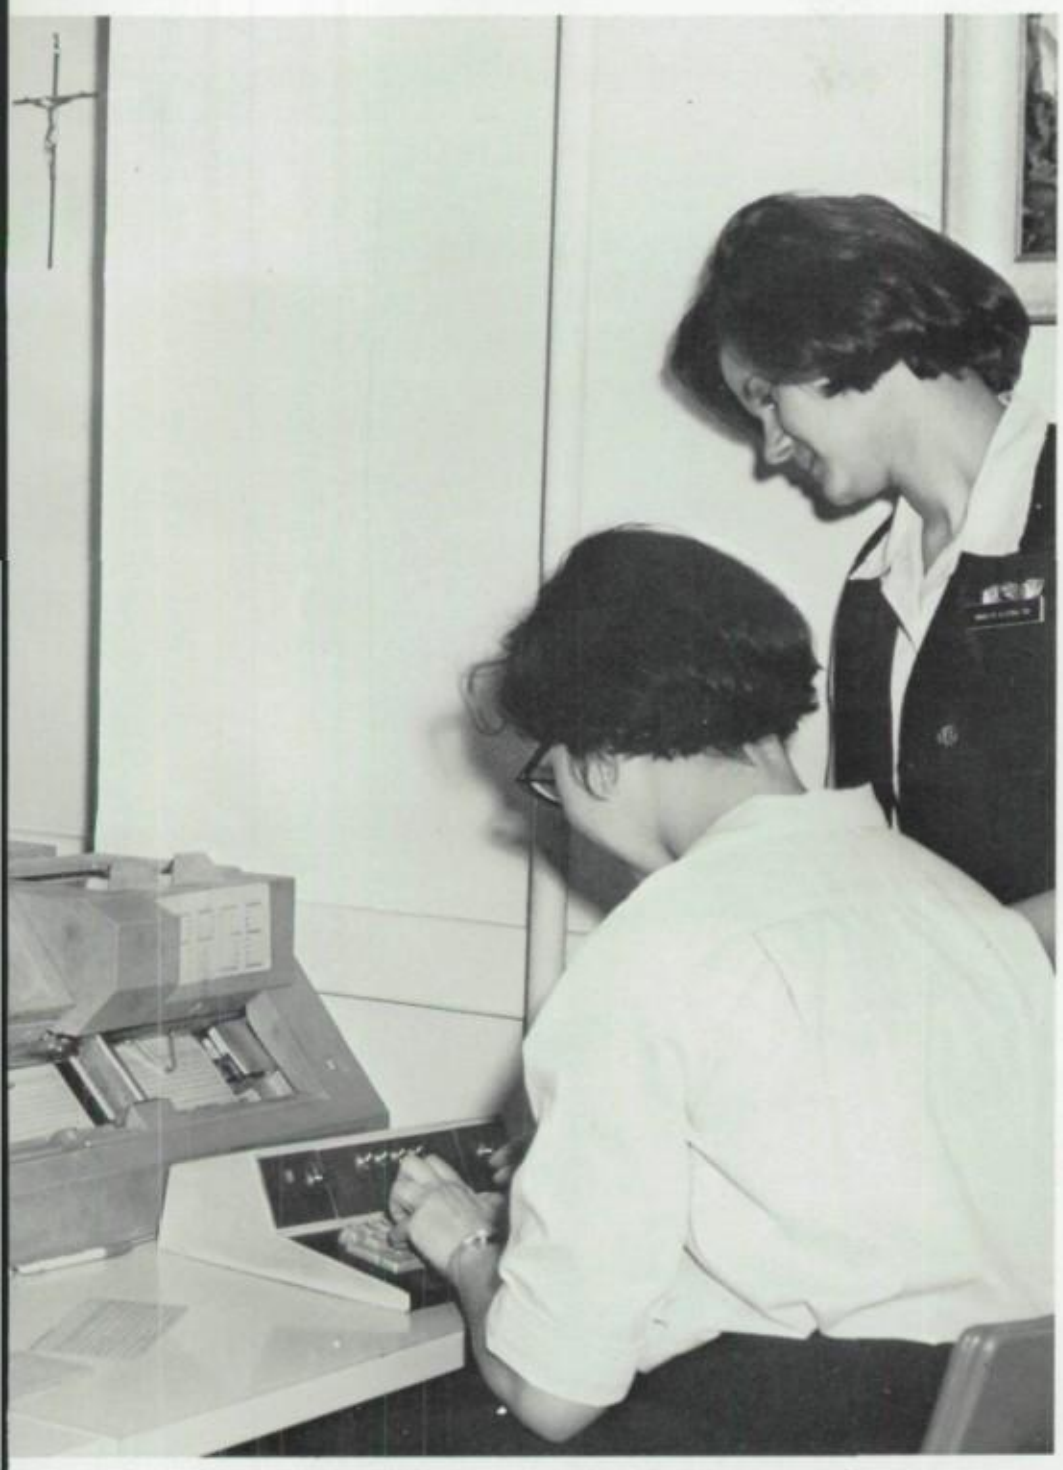
computer programming course



Math students JoAnn Grandau, Diane Podlasek, Nancy Jakocko, and Marilyn Klotnia punch computer program cards under eye of IBM operator.

With the mathematical ability of each individual student in mind the mathematics department offers various types of courses, ranging from introductory algebra to calculus.

Freshmen were placed into either of two classes, introductory algebra or the UICSM (University of Illinois Committee on the Study of Mathematics) algebra according to their entrance examination scores. Three types of geometry courses were made available to sophomores. For juniors wishing to continue their study of math, two different Algebra II courses were offered. Business mathematics was the perfect answer for juniors and seniors wishing to pursue a business career, rather than a career in the field of college mathematics. College-bound seniors were encouraged to take either a modern algebra course or pre-calculus, which provides the background for calculus. Living up to its goal of meeting the needs of each student the department offered a college calculus course to Therese Naddy who had taken supplementary courses.

This year two courses were offered for upperclassmen before school hours. A class in the use of the slide-rule was offered to seniors and a class in computer programming for interested seniors and juniors.

Students were urged to participate in mathematics contests, especially the National Mathematics Contest. This combination of courses and activities worked together to discipline and train the minds of students for future life.

Senior biology students visit hospital lab

Biology students Kathleen Byrne, Denise Egan, Andrea Kwiatkowski and Jurate Lingis explore the body organs.

To prepare students for the technological world of today, Maria offers five science courses. These are earth science, biology, advanced biology, chemistry, and physics. In six rooms devoted exclusively to science classes, girls investigated the physical phenomenon of life, matter, and energy.

Earth science is a course usually offered to freshmen. They studied the geological history of the earth, the forces affecting weather and erosion, and the movements of the planets. Since they also learn basic laboratory techniques and terminology, this science forms basis for all other courses.

Biology I is required of the sophomores. Those who wish to continue studying biology can take advanced biology in their senior year. Beginning with the origins of life, students soon advance to cell theory, plant life, genetics, and man. The seniors delve into research work, population analysis, and even experiment with newborn chickens. This year they also visited the lab at Holy Cross Hospital where they obtained first-hand information on isotopes.

Chemistry and physics, offered to juniors and seniors respectively, presented a challenge to students in the form of lab work, lectures, and demonstrations. The work was difficult but rewarding.

Holy Cross Hospital lab technician demonstrates isotope computer to advanced biology students Pat Rayman, Antoinette Candela, Elaine Becker, Theresa Kasperavicius and Sue Sincak.

Maria elections prove Nixon favorite

Court case is enacted by U.S. History students Linda Grublesky, Marissa Rochetto, and Linda Foley.

Man's relationship with members of his own nation and foreign nations was the main topic discussed by social science classes this year. These classes include geography, world history, United States history, economics, national problems, and sociology.

Geography classes studied not only the surface of the earth and its changes, but also the environment, climate and products of all nations. Students of world history concerned themselves with the political, social, and economic factors of man throughout the world. A study of the United Nations provided material for stimulating discussions on world situations and problems.

Juniors were required to take United States history which consists of the study of America from her discovery to the problems shaping her today. One of these events was the presidential election. Students participated in the making of history by electing Nixon president in the mock election.

For one semester all seniors take economics. The other semester is spent in the study of National problems. Sociology classes engaged in the study of man as a social being and how he affects the conditions of the world.

Religion puts focus on modern Church

Creating in each girl an awareness of herself as a unique individual is an aim of the religion department. An intensive study of the role of religion in modern society aids in its accomplishment.

Since there have been enormous changes in basic structures of the Church, each religion teacher tried to alleviate confusion in the minds of students. Different aspects of the study of man in relation to God, were discussed by each class. The freshmen delved into the study of our faith through the Bible. The sophomores considered the practical application of our faith by discussing the major problems prevalent to our society. Dating and marriage were major topics discussed by juniors. Seniors correlated and integrated the study of religion with their study of human relations in sociology.

Religion is a subject to be studied, but it is also a part of all education and our whole life. Religious exercises were part of many activities of the various organizations for the benefit of all the students. Realizing that religion consists of practical application besides classroom study, the students heartily participated in all the functions.

Hosts used for school masses are placed in the ciborium in the foyer before the beginning of services.

New language labs revolutionize learning

Latin IV students Sue Boettcher, Chris Violante and Judy Yocius use the library for references on Rome.

Maria's language department offers four-year courses in French, German, Latin, and Spanish. Besides learning the syntax of the language, the students receive insights into the cultural background and customs of the respective countries.

The newly installed language lab, obtained through the generosity of the alumnae organization and various language classes proved helpful in developing fluency in speech and a better understanding of the language. Freshmen and sophomores concentrated mainly on grammar and vocabulary. Upperclassmen went on to literature and cultural background while mastering the basics. Skits and song fests added color to the classes and at the same time increased the students' self-expression in a foreign language.

Since Latin is not a language of communication, students who have mastered vocabulary and grammar concentrated on Roman authors, historical background, and cultural practices. The Nationwide Latin Examination was taken by all Latin students. Many earned medals of distinction.

With the study of a foreign language, all students develop a greater appreciation and understanding people of other countries.

German literature is translated by fourth year students Milda Gutauskas, Marie Baranauskas, Jurate Jakstys, Belinda Baumil, Daina Naris, Bonnie Brockman and Maria Eiva under the direction of Mrs. J. Gudelis.

Business department adds selectrics

One of the most important aims of the business department is to prepare students for the business world. For this reason, students are offered a variety of skills which will benefit them later in clerical positions.

Courses consisting of stenography, office machines, and bookkeeping were conducted in such a manner as to create an office-like atmosphere in each class. By taking timed tests, the students began to realize the extreme importance which speed and accuracy play in the completion of a task.

To make possible specialized training in the IBM fields, selectric card punch typewriters were purchased. Also added this year were new electric Olympia typewriters.

Students studying stenography found that after practicing steno consistently each night, they could actually read and write their squiggly outlines accurately. Taking classroom notes provided opportunities to put their knowledge to practical use.

The first few months of typing were ones of many errors and few rewards. Undauntedly, the students practiced until their faltering clicks became smooth and their typing almost without error. Many students made use of their acquired skills by applying them to after-school and week-end jobs.

Art classes beautify walls with murals

Common kitchen utensils including a rolling pin and towel are utilized by Irene Lapinskas in clay work.

Self-expression of each student through a variety of means is the main objective of the art department. Interests are displayed in painting, ceramics, sculpture, stained glass, pottery, and wood burning.

First year art students learned the fundamentals of line, form, color and design, and advanced students concentrated on developing a personal style through more difficult undertakings. Many art students spent class periods involved in intricate painting and ceramic projects while others patiently stood at the potter's wheel and fashioned vases and containers of all shapes and sizes. A special group of seniors took on a difficult challenge, that of painting murals on walls throughout the school. First, the figures were sketched in chalk and were then carefully painted in tempera. Many hours were spent on these murals, but the results brought beauty to the school and a sense of satisfaction to the artists.

Other projects illustrating the versatility of the art department were decorations during the Christmas season and posters advertising "The Unsinkable Molly Brown." Saturday visits to the Art Institute provided opportunities to view the masters.

Three concerts keep choruses occupied

Practicing their flutes for the Christmas concert are: Carol Cotter, Susan Oczkowski and Sally Sellman.

Music plays an important role in the cultural development of a student. Chorus classes this year devoted time to music appreciation as well as the usual art of blending voices in song. The orchestra continued its work under the direction of Mr. Ki Joo Lee. Long hours of practice, both by the chorus and orchestra, were rewarded by the performances presented by these groups.

The customary Christmas concert was held the evening of December 22. Participants were Maria's freshman and advanced choruses joined by St. Rita High School's chorus and our orchestra. Traditional yuletide caroling was also performed at hospitals and institutions by a group of chorus members.

After the first of the year, practice for the upcoming Spring Concert dominated the lives of choral and orchestra members. The musical portion of this year's production, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" also took up a great deal of time in practice for chorus and orchestra students. Beyond the normal chorus course private voice lessons were given to those girls interested in this art. Private piano and organ lessons were available to students who desired them.

First year chorus students join together to present a selection of Christmas carols to mothers and faculty.

Anticipating the needs of future homemakers, the home economics department devotes itself to the development of such useful skills as sewing, cooking, and home decorating.

With pin-pricked fingers, the students learned the basics of sewing which included laying the material, cutting, marking, sewing, fitting, and pressing. Skirts, blouses and dresses took shape with a few slight mistakes and great enthusiasm. Wednesdays were devoted to the old art of knitting, and students carefully kept track of knits and purls even during lunch periods. The capable seamstresses also aided the Red Cross by making different projects for Christmas.

Cooking classes taught the skills of mealtime planning, budget balancing, and proper table manners. Different methods of preparing a meal were demonstrated and the girls found that team work was the best way to get a job done. The aroma of everything from meat dishes, to pies, to pizzas drifted along the first floor corridors.

These homemakers of tomorrow left their home economics class with confidence in their home managing abilities and eager to make a practical application of their skills.

Home nursing class includes baby care

Home nursing and contemporary home living courses are offered to help students prepare for a future life as mothers and homemakers in a complicated society. Home nursing, a compulsory course for juniors, was the only course offered this year related to health education. The course dealt with such subjects as baby-care, common illnesses, their symptoms and treatment, and treatment for minor injuries. Also included in the course were the care and therapy for the aged both physical and mental. This course was very important for all students because of the necessary and vital information it provides for daily living.

Contemporary home living was offered to seniors only. It dealt with such aspects of the home as color schemes, interior decorating, textures, of materials for certain home items, and selecting household furniture. How to arrange furniture was considered to some length. Also included in the courses were lectures on child development and budget managing. Since many will eventually own homes of their own, this course can prove to be of immeasurable help in later years.

Physical Ed classes utilize campus area

With enthusiasm, Margaret Dedera swings, but misses much to the delight of catcher Kris Krystek.

Contrary to freshman belief, there is no swimming pool at Maria; however, there is a gymnasium equipped with athletic equipment and a schedule full of activities.

Gym classes began with outdoor sports, including tennis, and baseball. When the weather forced the students to move indoors, they turned their attentions to basketball. Intramurals were played between gym teams and homeroom teams. A test was given as a final proof of the girls' knowledge of the rules of basketball. Volleyball served as the sport from midterm to the end of the year. Care was taken to see that the girls understood the rules and obeyed the one-hit stipulation.

To avoid monotony, the physical education department devoted some of the gym periods to calisthenics, precision drill work, and a variety of skills practiced on the rings and bars. A match of strength presented itself with "red rover" where only the fastest and slipperiest broke through.

The final event ot the year was the annual physical fitness test taken by all students. The girls performed sit-ups, pull-ups, and shuttle runs which improved their co-ordination and brought newly discovered muscles to their attention.

Sense of balance is tested by Janice Gramaila as Alice Bajorek, Karen Sucholaski and Barb Ficek wait.

Clean-swept halls, fresh buttered popcorn, french fries, and well heated classrooms are a part of the many conveniences and delights taken for granted. Although these conveniences are part of our lives, the only time they are really appreciated is when they are temporarily unavailable.

Can you imagine Maria with clocks, some fast, some slow, and bells ringing unexpectedly? What would happen if all light bulbs were burnt out? We never worry and leave all to our dependable maintenance corps.

In the cafeteria, nutritious and delicious meals, including home-made cookies, are prepared by our excellent cooks for the multitude of hungry girls. Each day a vast assortment of foods, drinks, and desserts are displayed in a manner tempting to both senses of sight and smell. Though little time is taken to think about or thank the personnel department, all these little and big things are appreciated by all.

Publicity committee members Adeline Candreva, Marlene Stoecker and Therese Naddy complete bulletin.

In this year of innovations, Student Council has also been affected by the winds of change.

It was a year when old activities blended with the new. Cheer Day once again gave students an opportunity to exhibit school and homeroom spirit. In the quiet season representatives and students joined together in making buttons and refreshments for various Appreciation days, which included teachers and all the classes.

The main project of this year's Student Council was a drive to collect fifteen hundred dollars for the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Foundation for Underprivileged Children. Various activities such as a dance and concert were promoted for this project which was a success in a short time.

There were more activities to Student Council work. Its main objective was to develop a good school spirit among students and aid communication between students and administration.

Student Council officers are Nora Hussey, secretary; Dottie Beleckis, vice-president; Mary Jo Pieczara, president; Melinda Works, treasurer; Anna Zielinski, parliamentarian; and Arlene Bonk, sergeant-at-arms.

"Joys of Life" is main theme of Sodality

Tags for Smile Week are prepared by Geraldine Kovacevich, Dianne Ploharski, Claudia Arlauskas, Loretta Seth and Cecilia Wachdorf.

Through the unanimous vote of the junior and senior members, the Community of Christian Living has been once again renamed the Sodality. This year members adopted the theme, "The Joys of Living" and tried to adapt it to a number of social and spiritual activities. A study of inner-self was made through the creation of spontaneous collages and sketches on the subjects of joy and the word "groovy." During Christmas time, the members participated in a folk Mass celebrated by Reverend John Malin, and also sewed and filled Christmas Stockings with candy for underprivileged children at St. James School. The annual Father-Daughter Dance, held on January 25, and aptly titled "My Heart Belongs to Daddy," provided an enjoyable evening for both daughters and fathers.

Further overtones of joy were expressed through the May Crowning, which was revised and simplified so that it would hold a greater meaning for the entire student body.

Sodality officers Ruth Allen, vice-president; Juanita Janeczko, treasurer; Cecilia Wachdorf, president; Regina Drahnak, recording secretary; and Jean Masokas, corresponding secretary take part in May Crowning.

Juniors L. Seth, C. Krystek, C. Kogut, S. Wungluck, M. Walters, S. Snarkis, D. Ploharski, G. Kovacevich, B. Hortsman, C. Kasarski, recite "How the Grinch Stole Christmas."

Young Holy Cross Hospital patient finds studies become easier with tutor Madalynn Smith as his teacher.

Members of the National Honor Society continued to pursue the organization's four ideals of character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Provisional membership was opened to all students able to achieve and retain an average of 90 or higher. The period of probation was terminated on January 31, when eligible seniors and juniors were admitted to active membership.

President Nancy Zayner, attended the National Leadership Training Conference in Hot Springs, Arkansas, last summer and used the valuable knowledge gained to conduct many important N.H.S. programs. Members were able to tutor children in the pediatrics ward at Holy Cross Hospital, and other girls, belonging to the Future Teachers Corps were able to student-teach classes of their choice.

The names of all students making the Honor Roll were once again posted on the first floor bulletin board each quarter. This practice also honored these students by presenting them with honor roll tags.

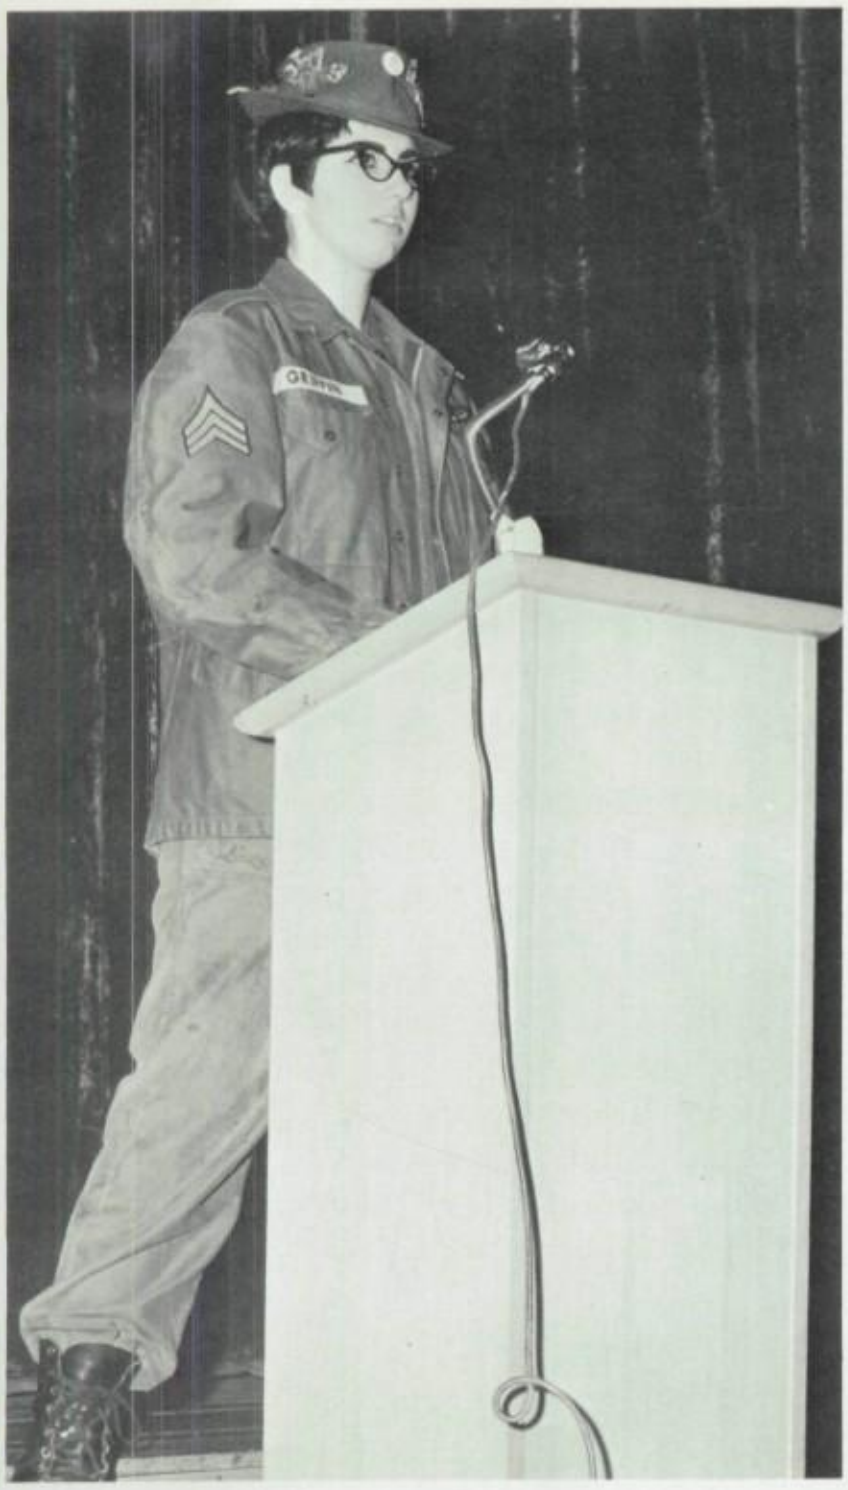
CAC demonstrates initiative in projects

Buried in boxes, Zita Strumskis and Valeri Vilunas carefully sort Christmas cards collected during drive.

CAC, the Christian Action Corps, is an organization composed of the entire student body. Four meetings, attended by all at assembly, were used to explore topics such as: Student Power, Brotherhood, Changing Values and Careers. Group meetings were held weekly for interested members for further discussions.

All four of the officers attended the S.S.C.A. conference at the Conrad Hilton last summer. Because of this, they decided to change the set-up of CAC by stressing leadership. A full year of activities began on September 27th with the Battle of the Bands. The Thanksgiving drive which followed was generously supported by the entire student body. At Christmas time, cookies were baked and distributed to old folks' homes. Another activity was the stamp drive which lasted all year. Funds obtained from the stamps were donated to the infirmary fund for the Sisters of St. Casimir.

Need for school spirit, theme of CAC assembly, is related to students through skit and finale song.



As part of skit Pat Paulsen (Cathy Ehmig) addresses students on the importance of good school spirit.

Surrounded by cans of soup, A. Pienias, R. Badke, G. Hoffman, D. Dekan, S. Hughes and B. Ficek prepare baskets for needy.

Maria staff struggles to meet deadlines

Co-editors Rosemarie Bogal and Marilyn McLean check layouts before completing triplicate copies.

"Individual" is a word often forgotten in our world of conformity, but the yearbook staff strived to present each girl as she really is—an individual. For the Maria, 1969 was the year of change. The editors attended the National Scholastic Press Association student workshop in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Room 7 became the new Press Room, and there was even a change in publishing companies.

Copy, captions, pictures, and layouts were the necessary elements needed to produce the yearbook, but even more important were the ingredients of cooperation and mutual respect on the part of editors, advisor, and staff. The press room became a place where strangers became friends, and friends strengthen their bonds.

This year's record small staff, which was very efficient and advised by Sister M. Irene, dedicated many hours after school to make the Maria 1969, a yearbook which would bring back memories to any girl willing to turn a page.

Business managers Mary Lee Kenny and Marilyn Gapshis check Patron returns.

Yearbook staff members Beth Pocius, Irene Giniat, Joyce Wrzesinski, Kathy Anleitner, Nancy Mahoney and Jenny Paskevicius rush to meet deadlines.

Herald changes format, increases issues

Maria Herald editors Stephanie Rusnak, Sue Hughes and Anita Rupslauskas fit copy to new format.

Along with an increase of journalism students came an increase of Maria Herald publications. The size of the pages was enlarged and the paper was published every month rather than four times a year. The co-editors, who attended the summer journalism workshop at the University of Detroit, attempted to put their newly acquired skills to use. Teamed with the associate editor and staff members, they attempted to feature a number of different students each month. Publication of news from the local community was another innovation begun this year. Under the guidance of their new advisor, Miss Maureen Miller, the staff endeavored to publish a newspaper which would be of interest to all readers.

The year was not all dull routine. On the day of the first deadline, the entire set of paste-ups was lost. Instead of giving up in despair, members of the staff retyped the copy, and with layouts on the middle of the parlor floor succeeded in assembling the entire issue in seven hours.

Maria Herald staff members Elizabeth Poehner, Karen Jasaitis, Ruth Nodus, Pat O'Boyle, Mary Martensen, Kathy Maida and Ilona Marcinkus proof-read copy.

Dear Kathy,
Four years have passed by so fast after all that we've been through doesn't show.
I hope college doesn't separate us, I don't think it can.
Good luck and God bless you!
Love,
Anita P

Serendipity staff holds Ali Folke Festival

Serendipity co-editors Patricia Rasinskas and Connie DelVento recheck poetry for their latest edition.

In its second year of life, Serendipity grew in depth and changed the style to include all types of writing. Editors and staff members looked for students interested in prose and poetry of all styles and forms to contribute. According to the editors: taking "Blood, sweat, tears, ink, love, truth, beauty, corn, and a little salt" as their multipurpose motto, the Serendipity staff used personal contacts, public address announcements, posters, and flyers to communicate the "Idea of Serendipity" to all students. The Write Place, the headquarters of the staff, became the official deposit point for all material.

The staff sponsored the highly successful Ali Folke Festival, on January 12. Such greats of the folk song world as Cassandra, Mike and Michele, Peter and Gil, the Late Late Show, and Peter Cora were featured. Editors Patricia Rasinskas and Connie DelVento distributed jelly beans which they called "jolly beans" to the audience.

Serendipity staff: Marguerite Kroll, Pauline Figora, Peg McInerney, Madalynn Smith, Leona Mikutis, Maria Traska, Daiva Jamdolis, Cindy Sichman, Asta Gestautas.

Red Cross projects aid young and old

Red Cross officers are Sue Poplawski, vice-president; Margaret Lynch, president; Kris Phillips, secretary; and Sandra Pych, treasurer.

Enthusiasm and creativity of students, motivated by the club's purpose to serve those in need, made Red Cross one of the most active clubs at Maria.

During the various holiday seasons, members made a special effort to support all of the worthwhile projects. The list of projects included making tray favors for Thanksgiving, hanky folders for Christmas, and tray cards for Valentine's Day. Members participated in many outside activities, including bingo parties at various veterans' hospitals and small parties for both children and the elderly at Holy Cross Hospital. For the first time in Maria's history, the Red Cross sponsored a dance held on February 28 with music by the Midnight Raiders.

Even during the summer, members extended their service to the community by participating in volunteer programs for the disabled. Officers attended a leadership training conference at the Red Cross Center.

Elderly people at Holy Cross enjoy performance by V. Jurisica, S. Kuhl, S. Dragovic, and D. Lewandowski.

Class of '69 breaks senior losing streak

Senior Cheerleaders: (t.r.) Pat Greczek, Lorelle LaBarge, Peg McInerney, Joan Aceto, (b.r.) Joan Trent, Cheryl Michalak, Monica Vojtas, and Donna Paukstys use "Teddy the Bear" theme for cheer.

Participants in Athletic Club activities were rewarded with aching bones, sore muscles, and a deep sense of satisfaction. Activities this year included homeroom basketball and volleyball intramurals.

Varsity basketball and volleyball games enabled the teams to represent their classes. The seniors anxiously looked on and almost expected history to repeat itself at the basketball game, but the juniors were defeated 7 to 6. The experienced sophomores defeated the freshmen 26 to 8 with little difficulty.

Other activities sponsored by the club included a roller skating party, and horseback riding at Ski-High Stables. For the first time, this year members were able to actively participate in a riding school.

The activities of the year ended with the wienieroast and picnic. On Awards Day patches, pins, sweaters, and trophies were presented to members who had earned the required number of points.

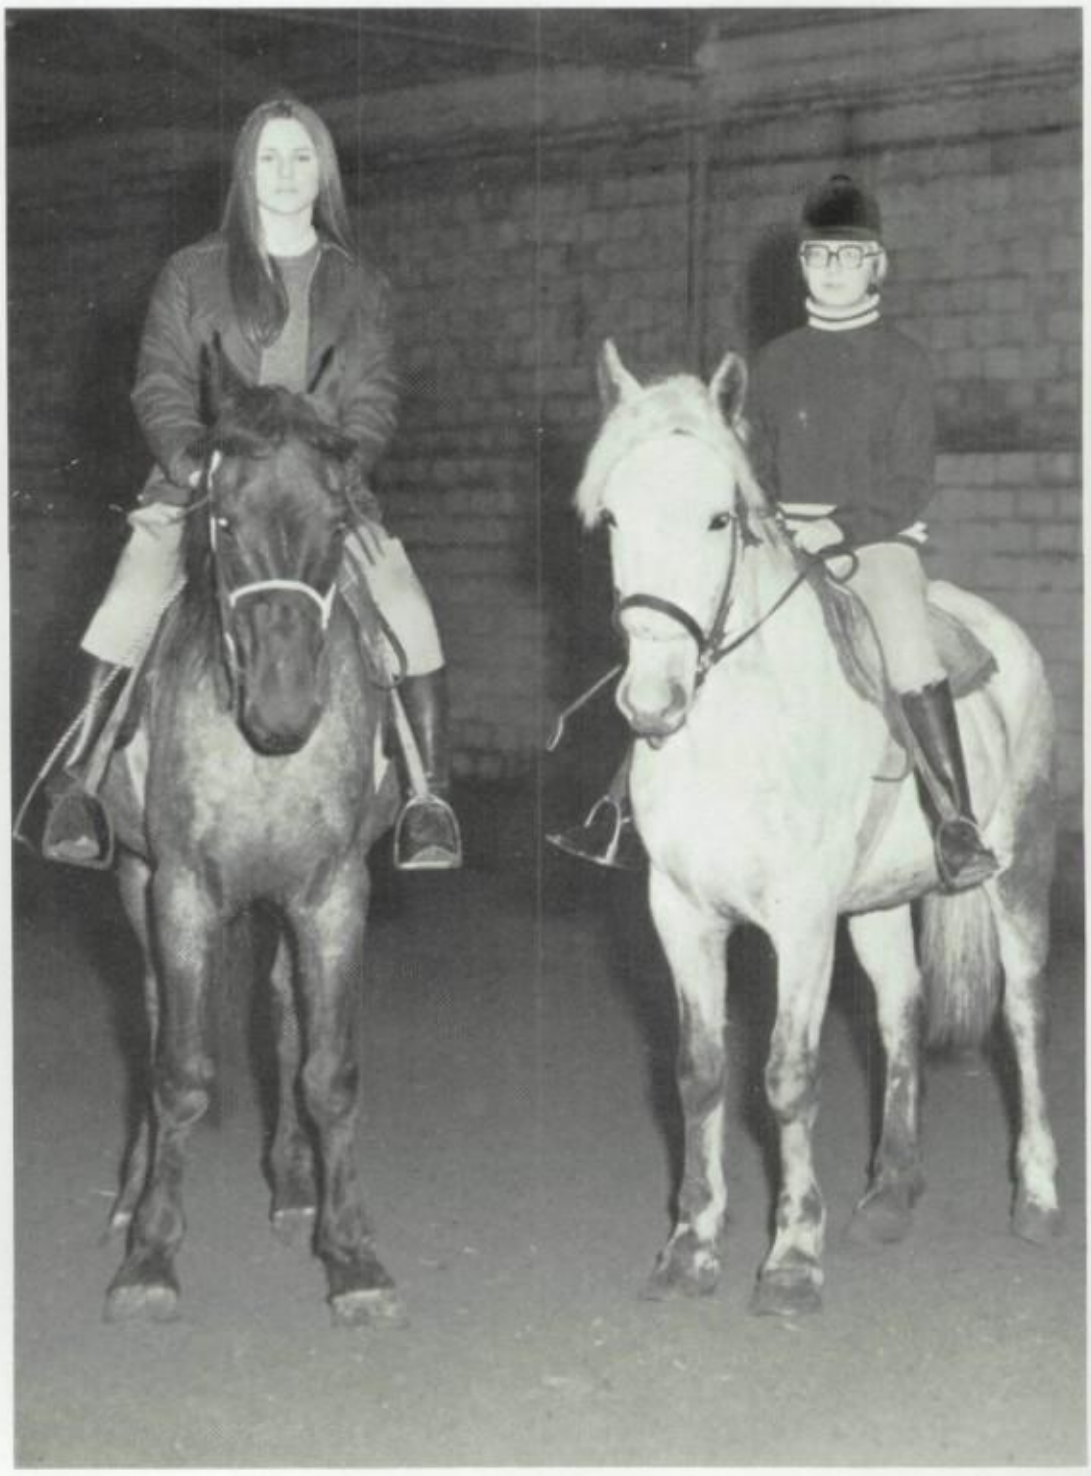
All-Star action comes alive as M. Malewski, A. Rutka, C. Casaz and M. Ekins battle for possession of ball.

Contestant Lou Ann Gavelek displays winning skill in ping-pong as Georgia Klenn and Ruth Zolynas watch.

Equestriennes parade in first graduation

Athletic Club officers are (counter- clockwise) Diane Stefansko, president; Adele Rutka, secretary; Laura Crowley, vice-president; Barbara Ficek, treasurer.



During their weekly riding lesson, Mary Lou Pudge and Carolynne Shurna learn the equestrian art.

Freshman All-Stars (standing) Annette Glass, Vilija Eiva, Ellen Mitchell, Merrilee Michalski, Therese Wysocki, Monica Pacelli, Mary Bingham (kneeling) Patricia Young, Judy Wojcik, Laura Smogor, Maureen McDermott and Linda Smogor anticipate their meeting with sophomores and hope for a victory.

Sophomore All-Stars (t.r.) Caryn Stack, Anne Westlove, Jan Sutula, Judy Wengelewski, Fran Stec, Karen Pajak, Lorie Leleika, Carol Kessler, (b.r.) Mary Alexander, Mary Labak and Aldona Rusenas are confident of an easy victory.

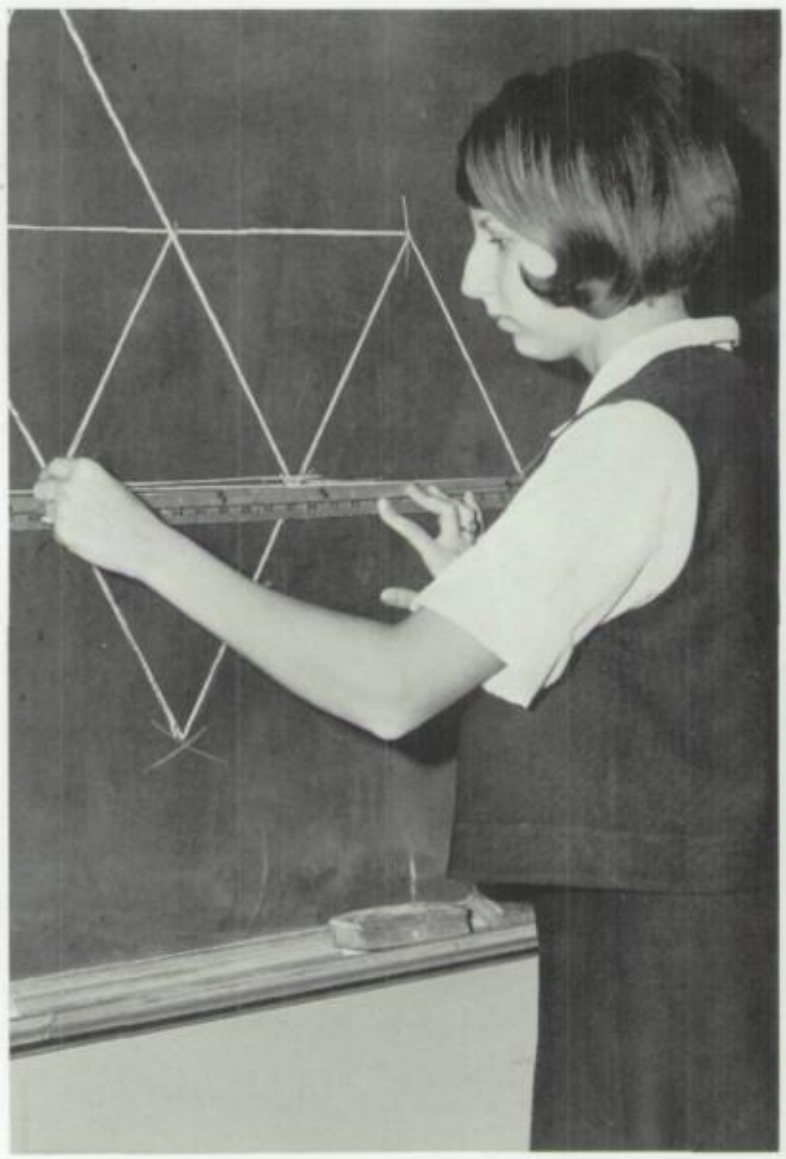
Mu Alpha Theta introduces Math Day

Math Club officers Therese Naddy, president; Ann Mlynarski, secretary-treasurer and Nijole Raila, vice-president examine polyhedrons.

For the juniors and seniors who had an interest in mathematics and wished to explore its depths beyond the classroom, the Math Club provided the opportunities. With projects, speeches, and mathematical games, ninety girls discovered the fun and fascination of mathematics.

The Math Club is the Maria Chapter of the national organization, Mu Alpha Theta. From the national office members were able to obtain membership cards, pins, and certificates bearing the Mu Alpha Theta emblem. Publications from the organization aided members in choosing projects and topics for reports.

Projects undertaken by the members included polyhedral ornaments for a cafeteria Christmas tree, Math Day, and the third annual Freshman-Sophomore Math Contest. During the monthly meetings pentominoes, permutations and combinations, and vector geometry were discussed.



Mu Alpha Theta member Charlene Norusis demonstrates construction of polyhedron for ornaments.

Lectures, projects inform Science Club

Demonstration on electricity is performed by Starr Maranto and Alice Koscinski at science club meeting.

Through research, discussions, listening, and learning, Maria's Science Club members became acquainted with the various fields of science. Not satisfied with just the regular science courses, members participated in the many activities of the club.

Meetings consisted of discussions of new theories, and demonstrations of basic principles. Many lectures, including a botany lecture presented by Reverend Edward Aksomaitis, enabled the members to explore various scientific fields. Slides and movies were also obtained to supplement the lecture subjects. Panels given by the members themselves aroused the interest of the entire group and broadened their scope of knowledge. Members of the project section used both ingenuity and hours of hard work to devise experiments which were both unique and worthwhile.

The efforts of the officers coupled with the guidance of moderator, Sister Margaret Ann, made science come alive.

Science Club officers Dalia Saulys, president; Chris Modory, secretary; Marilyn Klotnia, vice-president; and Diane Dado, treasurer; practice precision measuring.

Spanish Club re-enacts the "posada"

"Posada" the Nativity journey is re-enacted by M. Smith, A. Novak, C. Rodriguez, M. Eiva, M. Wingelnik and J. Klenn.

Through the activities of the Spanish Club "El Circulo Espanol," students were instilled with a deeper appreciation for the unique and beautiful culture of the Spanish people. Many members expressed their interest by visiting Rich East Township High School to see the classical play "La Molinera de Arcos" presented by their Spanish Club.

Christmas time provided an opportunity to exhibit some of the Christian customs of our Spanish neighbors. The "posada," a retracing of the search of Joseph and Mary for lodging, and the "pinata," a molded figure filled with candy broken by a blindfolded child wielding a stick, were only two of the traditions re-enacted by the club.

Pan-American Week gave everyone an opportunity to purchase colorful mementos of Spanish art and craft. Spain and the other Spanish-speaking countries were represented by folk songs and dances on International Day. The exhibit showed the similarities of the different countries.

Spanish Club officers Julie Klenn, secretary; Angela Novak, vice-president; Yolanda Popoca, president; and Mary Lou Pudge, treasurer examine sombrero, an import from Mexico.

Scrambling for the goodies are S. Reyes, L. Meyers, J. Ficek, S. Bieschke, M. Murnane and C. Foley.

French Club celebrates International Day

Maria's French Club, otherwise known as "Le Cercle de Saint Louis IX," aimed to present more cultural activities in which the girls could participate. Included in the long list of activities was a visit to Jacques' French Restaurant on Chicago's North Side, where exquisite cuisine was the order of the day. In this atmosphere, Sister Clement gave the club members an interesting insight to her European tour and particularly her visit to France last summer. A lively period of questions and discussion followed.

At the annual Christmas Party, members sampled delicious French pastries and sang French carols. There was also group participation in "La Bourgogne," a traditional French folk dance.

International Day provided the entire student body with a deeper insight into France, its people, and the richness of its culture through a program of songs and dances. Through participation in cultural activities, every member of the club helped bring America and France a little closer.

French Club officers: Judy Gustas, treasurer; Laima Valancius, secretary; and Mary Ramas, president.

La Bourgogne, a French dance, is performed by Janice Drabik, Laima Valancius, Nijole Raila and Mary Ramas.

German, Latin students organize clubs

German club officers: Maria Eiva, vice-president; Marie Baranauskas, president; Jurate Jakstys, secretary; and Belinda Baumil, treasurer.

Two new clubs were added this year to the roster of organizations at Maria. Members of "Romana Vita," the Latin Club, under the guidance of Sister M. Liudvika discovered a new and exciting use of the ancient Roman language. This club, which was open to all Latin students was devoted to exploring the lives and works of the many famous Roman scholars. Through their enjoyment of Latin versions of familiar skits, stories and songs, the members learned that the sometimes forgotten tongue of Cicero, Caesar, and Vergil can still be a lively one.

Students studying the German language also decided to form a club which would encourage members to speak German and learn the customs of the German people. Interest in the country itself was encouraged by the officers who contributed time and effort to put out a small German newsletter. Members practiced their German conversational techniques in skits and plays conducted during meetings.

Ruta Club upholds Lithuanian culture

Ruta Club officers are Jurate Jakstys, treasurer; Asta Gestautas, vice-president; Daina Baras, president; and Maria Eiva, secretary.

Desiring to preserve the culture of their ancestors, many girls of Lithuanian descent join the Ruta Club. Monthly meetings, held entirely in Lithuanian, fulfilled their aims and encouraged the girls to remain bilingual, and to observe the many Lithuanian customs.

One of the first events of the year was the freshman initiation. Inductees proved their desire for membership by performing various feats, ranging from rolling oranges with their noses to proposing to an officer in Lithuanian. Members often offered their services and participated in Lithuanian events, including operas, lectures, and plays. Other activities sponsored by the club, included the Annual Christmas party and observance of Lithuanian Independence Day on February 16. On this day, members sold the red, green and yellow tags to the student body, with proceeds going to aid those behind the Iron Curtain.

Lithuanian Independence Day tags are prepared by members Danute Bruskys and Aldona Radzevicius.

Inductees Donna Pajeda, Violeta Oparinas and Irene Juknis observe champion orange-roller Elena Jaunius.

Aides ease the burden of daily routines

Guidance Aides Kathy Wisz, Carol Statkus, Melody Kessel, Debby Misniak, Lorraine Koziol, (seated) Peggy Cameron, Celene Schneider, Jacqueline Pearre sort college catalogues for guidance counselors.

Library aides, visual aides, office aides, and guidance aides contributed their time to keep the various departments running smoothly. The library aides checked and shelved books, filled requests for periodicals, and helped students locate the proper reference materials. All members logged many hours behind the desk.

Visual aides give their assistance by working the lights, spots, and sound equipment for all school programs. They also aided subject teachers by setting up projectors and running films for various classes.

Office aides helped by filing, typing, running errands and answering the switchboard. Their services were offered during study periods, before and after school.

A new group of aides was formed this year to assist the guidance counselors. They helped by keeping college catalogues and other material in order and by assisting students to find guidance literature.

Office Aides Nora Hussey, Juliann Klima, Janice Galvin, Regina Nemanius, Nancy McCollom, Pat Moek and Chris Pagac help with small but important office tasks.

Visual aides officers are: Donna Kollereb, secretary-treasurer; and Stephanie Rusnak, president.

Library Aide Officers: Gloria Gilmore, president; Karen Sucholaski, secretary; and Sue Sedzielarz, vice-president.

Library aides (standing) Lynn Dytrych, Deanna Coglianese, Mary Therese Balskas, Nancy Kincinas, Regina Drahnak, Janice Drabik, (seated) Marge Deuerling, Rosemary Rudis, Sue Reedy, Phyllis Pelletier, and Debbie Bachelder assist librarian with many jobs, including filing call cards, arranging books and dusting.

Choral Club instills holiday spirit in all

Operatic songstress Kathy Wengelewski entertains student body at assembly.

Choral Club officers: Mary Beth Giblin, president; Janice Kasulaitis, treasurer; Elizabeth Pocius, secretary; Bernadette Hathaway, vice-president examine new selections.

Advanced choruses entertain student body in Christmas concert under the direction of Sr. M. Bernarda.

Orchestra Club buys new instruments

Orchestra club officers are Cecilia Strom, vice-president; Sue Nykaza, president; Jan Kaval, treasurer; and Gerri Kernagis, secretary.

Maria's Choral Club and Orchestra Club were the organizations responsible for providing the music for productions presented at Maria. The purpose of the clubs was to instill in both the members and non-members alike a greater appreciation for the art of music in all forms. The members were rewarded by their sense of accomplishment and pride in their work while the student body was able to enjoy the group's successful and greatly varied performances.

The Choral Club participated in the Christmas Concert and added joy to shut-ins by their caroling. According to tradition the Orchestra Club sponsored a dance, "A Cold Winter's Night," on January 10. The proceeds of the dance provided finances for purchasing new instruments.

These clubs were for those students who were willing to take time before, after, and during school time to practice for hours on end. Perfection was their goal.

Orchestra members Carol Cotter, Roberta Furiasse, and Loretta Leleika sort music for next rehearsals.

Thespian members develop acting talent

Thespian officers: Maureen Kennedy, president; Nancy Duffin, secretary; Janice Prible, vice-president; Mary McKee, historian; Mary Ellen Reedy, treasurer view new Thespian banner.

Theatrical promotion is the theme of the Thespian organization, Maria's drama group. Basic theatrical knowledge was revitalized as the Thespians acquainted themselves with modern theatrical techniques. By attending the play The Fantastiks at the Theatre in the Round, the members received vast insights into twentieth century theatre. The producer of the play spoke to the entire group of Thespians at a meeting preceding the play and discussed the role of the theatre today in comparison with that of the different theatrical eras. The members then devoted a meeting to a discussion and criticism of the plot, characterization and other basics of the play.

The Thespians played a major role in the school's musical, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," by providing the actors and all the necessary publicity for the production. Also, the organization was one of the major supporters of the Cryan' Shames Concert which was held at Maria on December 1.

During Christmas play, presented by drama students, Carol Petkewicz and Gloria Gilmore sing to Infant.

Elizabeth (Loretta Seth) displays kindness as she welcomes old lady (Eva Kibartas) into her home.

Art Club places emphasis on creativity

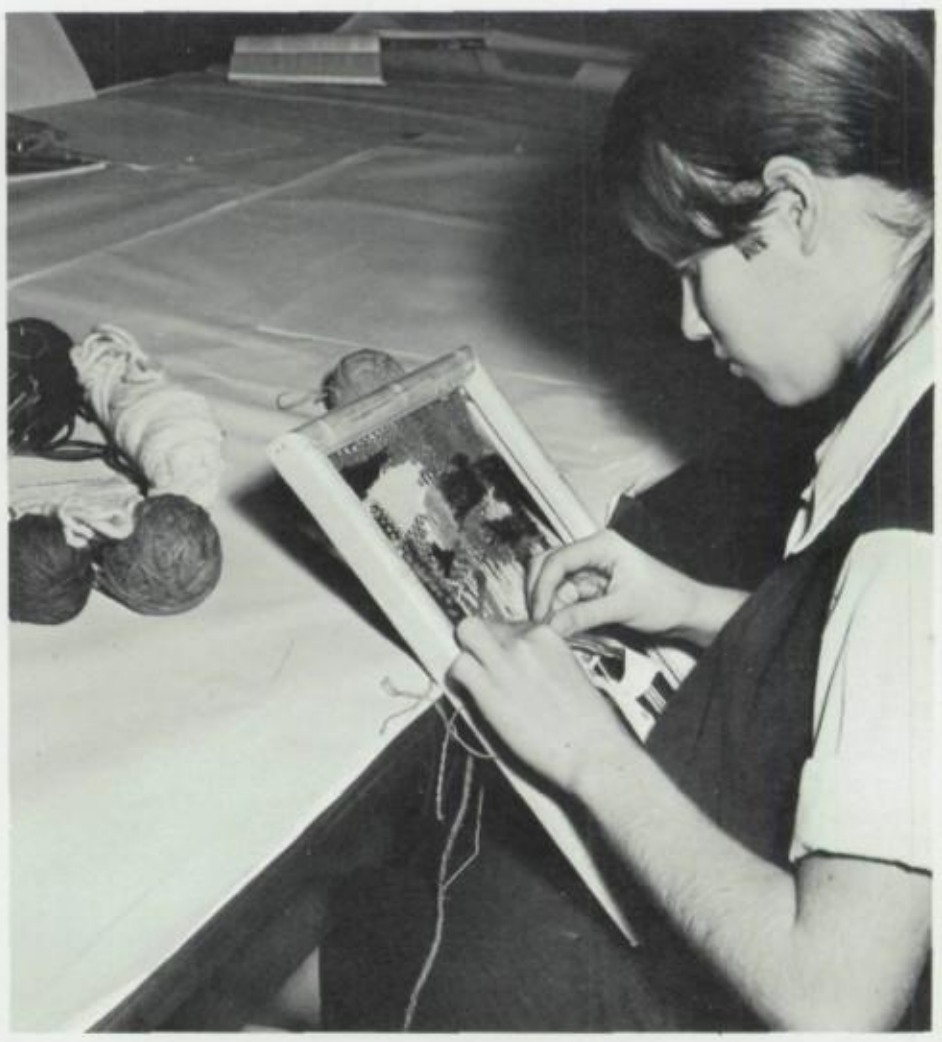
Art Club officers are Pat Raymond, vice-president; Debbie Goralski, secretary; Mary Ann Forys, president; and Janet Bryscan, treasurer.

In its second year of existence, the Art Club has progressed in many ways to become one of Maria's finest. One major field of progression has been the many murals done by students which added a touch of color to sometimes barren halls.

Many activities were planned for the members, such as tours to the Chicago Tribune's art department, the department of art in Marshall Field, and the Art Institute. To supplement these tours, various demonstrations of the many methods used in art were presented at each meeting. Some of the members participated, trying their hand at new techniques including jewelry designing and Easter egg painting. On occasion speakers and art students spoke at the meetings.

Each member belonging to the Art Club was offered an opportunity to gain cultural enrichment and an insight into the aesthetical side of life through the media of art.

Art Club member Adele Maciaszek skillfully shows a method of decorating Easter eggs by etching.



Art student Lorraine Raman discovers the primitive art of weaving yarn into beautiful, modern tapestry.

Mothers' Club opens new Mod Shoppe

Mothers enjoy birthday meeting where they sit at a table decorated for the month of their birthday.

Success of the many activities at Maria depends not only on the support of the students but also upon the efforts of the members of the Mothers' Club. In an effort to improve school facilities and to promote a general interest in some of the school's special activities, the members sponsored many activities. Exciting meetings held every month were centered around varying subjects including current fashions, both casual and formal and wig fashions. Two special events held were the "Birthday Party" meeting and the Games Party.

Members also assisted the administration and faculty by serving as Marigold Mothers and offering their services in supervising the cafeteria and study classes. Their new venture in opening the Mod Shoppe was a success and went over big with the students. By becoming acquainted with the situations which confront their daughters at school, mothers gain a deeper understanding of their daughter's problems.

Hostesses prepare to serve assorted delicacies to freshmen and their mothers at the get-acquainted affair.

Marigold mothers Mrs. S. Barbaro and Mrs. A. Kabat volunteer their time to supervise the Mod Shoppe.

Marigold mothers Mrs. Lumpp, Mrs. Hussey and Mrs. Quinlivan have a free minute after cafeteria line comes to an end.

Mothers' Club board members are (standing) Mrs. W. Gale, Mrs. E. Misniak, Mrs. C. Misiunas, Mrs. J. Kobey, Mrs. T. Doherty, Mrs. D. Carlyle, Mrs. E. Maier, Mrs. G. Wassack, Mrs. L. Cieplak, Mrs. G Kolnik, Mrs. E. Krystek, Mrs. J. Paris, Mrs. W. Schaub, Mrs. P. Walters, (seated) Mrs. A. Kaupas, Mrs. J. Valentine; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. Bogus; treasurer, Mrs. K. Byrne; president, Mrs. W. Sellman; recording secretary, Mrs. W. Urban; corresponding secretary, and Mrs. A. Kabat. They join to prepare agenda for another year filled with activities which are entertaining and worth while.

Fathers' Club cooperates in tuition aid

Freshmen Kathy Pozniak and Laura Rybicki, escorted by their dads, lead other members to Mass at annual Father-Daughter Communion.

With the welfare of the school as its main concern, the Maria Fathers' Club continued to be one of the most important organizations of the school. Members contributed time and money toward improving school facilities. Monthly meetings gave the fathers an opportunity to express their interests in the well-being of their daughters and the school.

One of the primary tasks of this organization was to raise money for the provided tuition fund for those girls who have lost their fathers while attending Maria. Las Vegas Night with its roulette wheels and horse races was a major source of income for this fund. A new means employed by this organization to procure funds was the Bacon Shoot and smoker. Other non-profit spiritual and recreational activities included the Father-Daughter Communion Breakfast and trips to baseball and football games. The Sweetheart Dance on February 15 enabled fathers and mothers to enjoy a night of dancing in Maria's gym with their friends.

Las Vegas Night volunteers are; C. Basso, vice-president; E. Cotter; D. Lamsarges, ways and means committee chairman; J. Kobey, senior vice-president; J. Ditchman, president; J. Muskus; S. Sgarioto; A. Berndl; H. Kraus, treasurer; and W. Gale.

Alumnae donations finance language lab

Saint Casimir-Maria Alumnae Organization consists of graduates of the former Saint Casimir Academy and Maria High School, who work for the benefit of the school. The first big affair was a dinner-fashion show at the Martinique on October 8. Another gathering of alumnae and friends was held at the Theatre in the Round on April 13. The main purpose of the activities was to improve the facilities at Maria.

The senior induction on January 19, 1969 provided the first opportunity for alumnae members and 1969 graduates to get acquainted. On February 1, 1969 alumnae members met once again, in more formal surroundings for the Sno-Ball held at the Merchants & Manufacturers Club of the Merchandise Mart. This year's activities were climaxed on May 14, when the annual Alumnae Banquet and installation of officers was held. Alumnae are kept informed about the various activities by means of their newsletter The Alumnae News.

Alumnae officers are Miss Sheila Green, president; Mrs. Helen Janas, 3rd vice-president; Miss Margaret Linduska, 2nd vice-president; Miss Patricia Kwasny, corresponding secretary; Miss Sandra Meskauskas, corresponding secretary; and Miss Betty Prank, treasurer.

Alumnae members arrive at the Martinique for annual fashion show and dinner held on October 8.

Assembly schedules alter daily routine

Junior citizens Judy Yocius, Terry Naddy and Chris Violante are congratulated by Sister M. Salesia.

An air of expectancy filled the school, classes were shortened, and everyone waited for the climax of the day. This was the atmosphere on assembly days.

Assembly programs this year were planned and produced primarily for the enrichment and entertainment of the student body. In order to fulfill this purpose, students of all classes, the administration, and the faculty became involved, as well as guest speakers and professional and amateur entertainers who were invited to the school. Through the efforts of such involvement, students had an opportunity to see performers such as "Ginny Tiu" and the Chicago Symphonia; to hear speakers such as David Schippers; to study the controversial Student Council movies; enjoy dramas presented by the Thespians and even by the National Players of Washington.

Because of the participation and interest of the students and faculty, assemblies have become a panorama of school spirit.

Sophs have "Hoot 'n Howl" Happening

Raggedy Ann (Mary Bingham) and Andy (Linda Smogor) shy away from crowds at Happening.

For the first time in the history of Maria, the sophomores took over the organization of the annual Halloween Party, previously held by the juniors. Their "Hoot 'n Howl" Happening, took place on October 30.

New and original techniques were employed along with the traditional ones that made this event a great success. Such displays as the Pumpkin Patch, the Wishing Well, and the Fortune Teller's Booth assisted the girls in showing both young visitors and students a good time. The gymnasium was converted into a roomful of ghosts, witches and goblins with every type of costume being on display. The cafeteria supplied enough hamburgers, hot dogs, soda, candy, and popcorn to keep the ravenous guests going between the bewitching hours from 5 until 9 p.m. Although the sophomores were novices at a task of this enormous responsibility, they provided an enjoyable evening for all who dropped in on the "Eve of All Hallows."

Dances put gaiety into school calendar

Friends meet, mix and dance to music provided by a famous name band "The Desperate Few" at junior dance.

One of the most successful and entertaining forms of fund raising utilized by various school organizations is the school dance. Many of the clubs took advantage of sponsoring a dance this year. The dances, which lasted from 8 until 11 p.m. were held in the gym which was appropriately decorated for the occasion. All of the dances took place on a Friday night or on an evening before a school holiday, enabling the clean-up committee to get the gym spotless for gym classes. Big-name bands provided entertainment in the form of pulsating music. As usual, the traditional policies of Maria were observed and freshmen were not allowed to purchase tickets or attend the dances. No tickets were sold at the door. Themes varied from "Crimson and Clover," the first Red Cross dance, to "Just the Same—Only Different," the junior class dance. The organizations that sponsored dances were CAC, the Student Council, the senior class, the junior class, and the Orchestra.

Plush surroundings of the M & M Club set the mood for the first formal dance of this year, the Sno-Ball.

Parents swing during Sweetheart Dance

Heart-covered gym provides setting for cabaret-style Sweetheart Dance sponsored by Fathers' Club.

Constituting a large portion of school activities, are dances sponsored by specific organizations. Two events sponsored with the parents as participants are the Father-Daughter Dance and the Sweetheart Dance.

Once a year, each student has the golden opportunity to be escorted by a charming gentleman to one of the most fashionable dances at Maria. The Sodality sponsored Father-Daughter Dance gives each girl a chance to fulfill the dream of a lifetime—a date with her father. At the dance, each father is elevated to the position of King-for-a-Night, crowned by his favorite girl. Dancing, music, and hours of merriment make this dance a memorable occasion.

But, the mothers were not completely forgotten in the hearts of the dads. The Fathers' Club annual Sweetheart Dance provided the opportunity for a mother-dad date. In the atmosphere of soft lights and beautiful music parents danced to a band of their taste.

Couples at the Sweetheart Dance held on February 15, enjoy a toast from the beautiful champagne bubbler.

"Unsinkable Molly Brown" makes a hit

Princess DeLong (Janice Drabik) and Prince DeLong (Neal Petges) make royal entrance to Molly's party.

All the excitement of the rough and tumble life of Leadville, Colorado and the false gentility of the "nouveaux riches" of Denver Society was portrayed in the presentation of "Unsinkable Molly Brown." After many months and long hours of practice, this delightful American legend, under the direction of Mrs. David Castaldi and student director, Marcella Lain, was presented on February 21, 22, and 23.

"Unsinkable Molly Brown" is the fantastic story of a Colorado farm girl, Molly Tobin who developed aspirations to be rich and live comfortably. She dreamed of owning a red silk dress and a big brass bed. The entire story consists of her adventures in Denver high-society and European court life. Her spunk, good will and disposition earned her the title of "unsinkable." She finally realized that her original status was her happiest and she consented to return to Leadville to live with her husband, J. J. Brown.

Students and parents enjoyed the musical with its catchy songs and hilarious dialogue. The success of "Unsinkable Molly Brown" was evidenced by the capacity crowds which attended each performance.

Senior class develops Christian ideals

After two years of experience as class president, Linda Polach accepts responsibility for third year.

With anticipation and confidence, a record senior class, 314 girls strong, returned to school in September eager to assume the responsibilities and privileges reserved for seniors. There was little time for the seniors to settle down to daily routine before the first big event of the year, Ring Day. Both Ring Day and Ring Dance took place on September 20, 1968. Two weeks later adventurous seniors left for Washington, D.C. and New York or California. Senior life took on a serious aspect as groups of girls made week-end retreats at either the South Cenacle, the North Cenacle or Holy Redeemer Villa. College was now a near reality as representatives from various colleges spoke to interested seniors.

On January 19, 1969 the senior Induction into the Alumnae Association reminded the seniors that they would always remain Maria girls. Then, less than two weeks later on February 1, seniors participated in another alumnae sponsored event. This was the annual Sno-Ball held at the M and M Club in the Merchandise Mart. After this formal, the day of the long-awaited Prom arrived. It was held at the Chateau Royale on May 23, 1969. Greater responsibilities came to the seniors as they received diplomas on June 5, 1969.

Vice-president Diane Dunklau faithfully assumes officer's duties for a second term.

for the seniors

Innovations occurring each year give the senior class a distinct characteristic. For the class of 1969 Ring Day was held on the earliest date in Maria's history, September 20. Because of limited room in the auditorium, only juniors were permitted to attend the ceremony, but invitations were extended to all senior parents. Father John Malin blessed and distributed the rings, offered the Mass, and gave an inspiring homily on the symbolism associated with the ring.

The tradition of Maria was upheld as the junior class president, Benita Montalbano, congratulated the seniors on their day which mirrored three years of hard work and achievement.

As each girl looked at her ring, she saw an azure stone flanked by the lily, crown, and sword on one side representing purity, fortitude, and faith—the ideals of a Maria student. On the opposite of the stone is an engraving of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the model for each girl to follow.

Once again this year, a Ring Dance was held in Maria's gym. Upperclassmen and their escorts attended this affair which together with Ring ceremonies left a deep impression on the hearts of the seniors and started them on the road to graduation.

Wonders of California seen by seniors

Details daze Dawn Jordan, Sue Boettcher, Jackie Murphy, Therese Sorrentino, and Jenny Paskevicius.

O'Hare airport provided the mutual take-off point for touring seniors. A group of 20 left early Saturday morning, October 5, for Washington and 127 California-bound seniors on Sunday, October 6.

The five day tour of the Eastern states included New York and Washington, D.C. Patriotism surged over them as they toured the White House, Washington monument, and the Lincoln Memorial. Smiling faces became sombre as the graves of John and Robert Kennedy were viewed in Arlington National Cemetery. New York was yet to be discovered. Twenty pairs of eyes scanned the towering Empire State Building, and a group of determined girls climbed to the top of the Statue of Liberty. A performance of "Mame" climaxed this portion of the tour. A larger group of seniors was touring the state of California. Minutes after the planes landed the girls boarded buses and were off for Disneyland. Other places included in the tour were Knott's Berry Farm, Graumens' Chinese Theatre in Los Angeles, Universal Studios, Hollywood, and the Golden Gate City, San Francisco. Both tours terminated too quickly and are now only memories for the class of 1969.

on January 19

On January 19, 1969, members of the senior class were inducted into the Saint Casimir-Maria Alumnae Association. The short but impressive ceremony included a welcome speech by the president, Miss Sheila Green, and a thank you expressed by Linda Polach, president of the senior class. The girls pledged to uphold principles and ideals of Catholic womanhood, and to make an earnest and sincere effort to bring honor to Maria and to the Alumnae Association. The ceremony ended with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, which reminded the new alumnae members of the many spiritual activities which played an important role in the life of each one. This year mothers of the seniors as well as the alumnae were invited to attend the affair. The Induction also was a means of continuing the many friendships made during the four years at Maria.

The entire group was then invited to the cafeteria for tea. While the girls nibbled on cookies and hors d'oeuvres and sipped punch, they were able to socialize with members of the alumnae and faculty members present for the induction.

Seniors Dale Chambers, Margaret Bernatek, Diane Krisun and Marcia Bernatek join in making Alumnae pledge.

Sno-Ball queen Lorelle LaBarge beams radiantly as she is crowned by last year's queen Maria Smilga.

Chateau Royale provides prom setting

Senior class officers Linda Polach and Diane Dunklau take a tour of the Chateau Royale with the manager.

With classes and homework taking up most of a senior's life, the two annual formal dances are eagerly anticipated. The Merchants and Manufacturers Club of the Merchandise Mart provided the setting for the first formal dance of the year—the Sno-Ball. It was sponsored by the Saint Casimir-Maria Alumnae Association on February 1, 1969. Music was provided by the "Collegiates." The evening of dancing was climaxed when Lorelle LaBarge, escorted by Richard Kelly, was crowned queen of the Sno-Ball by last year's queen, Maria Smilga. Members of her court were Marcella Lain, Susan Nykaza, Mary Jo Pieczara and Monica Vojtas.

The second and even more prominent formal was the prom held on May 23, 1969 at the Chateau Royale. Although graduation was highly anticipated by the seniors the prom was the most cherished event. The formal evening began when the couples picked up their bids at school and the girls presented their escorts to members of the faculty. Before departing for a wonderful evening, the couples were served punch by the juniors. The evening passed all too quickly and now remains only a wonderful memory in the minds of the seniors.

Juniors achieve success through unity

Junior class officers are Mary Ann Czuba, v.-pres.; Cindy Prochazka, sec.; Kris Krysteck, treas.; Benita Montalbano, president.

Tremendous tasks and the promise of a successful year faced the class of 1970. Early in September the 323 juniors began preparations for senior Ring Day program and breakfast. During the retreat, October 7-9, given by Father E. Larson, they slowed their quick pace and concentrated on the meaning of life. Weeks later, they turned their attention to the Mock Elections. For days campaigns were held at 7:30 a.m. in the cafeteria, and on November 5, the ballots were cast. Maria went as the nation did—Nixon was the one. No sooner was this over, the juniors planned their Fall Dance, "Just the Same, Only Different," held Nov. 27.

The life of the juniors wasn't all activities. Tests such as the American College Test and National Merit Scholarship Test reminded juniors that the future life of college and employment would soon be the present.

A final duty for the class of 1970 was to plan the Class Day skit. They will remain etched in each senior's mind. New experiences this year had a special meaning for the juniors and each contributed to the development of next year's seniors.

Involvement is key word in soph success

Sophomore class officers are Peggy McDonald, secretary; Annette Jakus, president; Judy Stefansko, treasurer; and Cary Stack, vice-president.

All signs of timid uncertainty were gone, and their cool sophistication had not yet appeared when the sophomores returned to school in September. Their energies and enthusiasm were at a peak. By October, they plunged into preparations for the Halloween party, the "Hoot'n Howl Happening." Although they were the first sophomore class to manage this affair, they carried on an advertising campaign, sold tickets, organized the booths, and conducted all attractions of the party with overwhelming success.

Weeks melted away in a maze of geometry problems, driver education classes, and frog-filled experiments, with an interjection of standardized tests. Piles of homework were attacked and conquered by the girls with the sunny yellow blouses and matching dispositions. They also heartily accepted another new responsibility this year, that of serving the Senior Class Day breakfast. Deftly, they balanced the plates and cups, replenished empty pastry plates and coffee pots, and finally, remained to wash the huge mountain of dishes.

A year had passed, and 347 girls gained new knowledge, new friends, and now traded their checked skirts for the solid brown.

Maria's challenges enrich freshmen

Freshman officers are Laima Kardokas, secretary; Georgia Klenn, treasurer; Laura Welsh, vice-president; and Linda Smoger, president.

Glorying in their new status as high school students, 386 freshmen entered Maria last September. For three days of orientation the green-clad Class of '73 ruled the halls like apprehensive leprechauns. Eventually, however, they became accustomed to Maria, their timidity turned to exuberance, and the mass of strangers became acquaintances.

The first weeks passed quickly. There were lock combinations, student numbers, and schedules to memorize. Algebra I and earth science had to be deciphered, a First Book of Stories to be read, and the Athletic Club was open to any fairly active girl. There was information from the sophomores about elevator passes and the swimming pool on the fourth floor, but the girls who "knew" said that the water on the auditorium roof really wasn't a skating rink in the winter.

In March, the freshies displayed their potential acting ability with a talent show. In spite of their amateur status they pleasantly surprised the entire student body.

With stunning swiftness June arrived. Now, as experienced, self-confident Maria girls, they made a final exit through the parking-lot door. With a casual air of triumph the green blouses were laid aside.

In Conclusion

We are most grateful to the many INDIVIDUALS who assisted us in editing the MARIA, 1969.
Among them are:
Mr. Kenneth Nemsick,
Taylor Publishing Co. representative;
Mr. Anthony Comunale of Marshall Photographers, Inc.;
for faculty and senior portraits and processing candids;
All-States Studio
for underclassman photos;
our sponsors, special patrons, and patrons for helping to defray the costs;
the administration and teachers
for their understanding and patience;
and our faithful staff for devoting many long hours before, during, and after school hours; to advisor, Sister M. Irene for her assistance and confidence; and finally to you, the INDIVIDUALS for being MARIA.

Dear Kathy:
Thought the four years we've been through, I'd be glad to see you and Tim pair well both carry on and christ every minute I've spent here. I'm sure you will find success in your future attempts (I know you and please do keep in touch!
Love and Hellos?
Gail

Dear Kath,
May all your years
be as happy as these past four.
Love,
Tink

Dear Kath —
I see it only one way to sum up my wishes for you, "Kathy will shine in 69"
Tom D.

Good Luck — Kathy for a very special friend
Love Carol P.

DEAR KATH —
THE BEST IF ALL
WEALTH, AND MAY YOU
MARRY A RICHER MAN THAN YOUR SISTER!
Jack —

Dear Kathy,

Well, it's all over! I know I'll see you in the summer. I'm looking forward to our trip to St. Louis. Remember the good times (and the bad) and stay sweet.

Love,
Linda
